ABSTRACT

AFRO-AMERICANS: a bibliography of U. S. Government Documents indexed in the Monthly Catalog of U. S. Government Publications, Jan. 1970 through July, 1982. Compiled by Lynn G. Walshak, Government Documents Librarian, Georgia Southern College. January, 1983.

A bibliography of 194 titles indexed in the Monthly Catalog of U. S. Government Publications, within the time period Jan. 1970 through July, 1982. Approximately two-thirds of the titles are held in the Georgia Southern College Depository collection of government documents, and these entries are annotated. Bibliographic information includes Item number, Monthly Catalog entry number, Superintendent of Documents class number, and format when the publication was issued in microfiche.

INTRODUCTION

In recent years, considerable interest has grown in the social, psychological and economic development of Afro-Americans. Interest in the cultural heritage and achievements of the American black race has spurred research and publication of many titles. Also, concern for the social well being of this minority segment of the American population has resulted in many governmental executive agencies and congressional activities--studies, hearings, enactment of laws and regulations, etc.--publications of which can be found in the federal government documents.

This bibliography was compiled by searching the Monthly Catalog of U. S. Government Publications subject, title, and title key-word indexes for the period January, 1970 through July, 1982. Search terms used to locate these titles were negro, negroes, blacks, Black Americans, and Afro-Americans. Other publications containing information on Afro-Americans could be located by searching other indexes such as the CIS Annual, for analytical entries.

Standard bibliographic information is included for each title in this bibliography, as well as Item number where ascertainable and applicable, Monthly Catalog entry number, and SuDocs class number. Those titles owned and held in the Georgia Southern College Depository collection are annotated. In two or three instances, the publication was received by the Georgia Southern College Depository Library after the search cut-off date. They were not yet indexed in the Monthly Catalog and do not have a Monthly Catalog entry number. Also, serial titles such as Black news digest, which have many Monthly Catalog entries, do not have one shown in this bibliography.

Arrangement of the bibliography entries is alphabetical by main entry. References in the subject index are to bibliography entry, not page number.
